The theme this time is 'my graphic calculator and me' and I figured that the best way to present my self was to depict my interest. So, I chose this design as it depicted one of my most passionate interests – anime. It shows my interest in anime, as it allows me to portray my self-created character. In the process I have learnt that there are many ways to do the same thing using the graphic calculator. I also learnt that sometimes, things do not turn out as planned as when this happens, I have to improvise.
