

NG TECK CHUAN, 05S33
VICTORIA JUNIOR COLLEGE

Even in winter, nature can be touchingly warm, with the advent of Christmas day. I chose this picture because it is a nice scene never seen in Singapore. I have always wanted to have Christmas day in a cold winter, with the world around all covered by snow. Throughout the journey of sketching this picture, I have learnt some interesting parametric equations and have a better understanding of geometry and of course of the various functions of the graphic calculator like storing and recalling pictures.