Travelling has become a new fashion and trend under the highlight of globalisation. It gives people totally different experience by placing people in another culture and natural environment. Moreover, you can fly to several countries in a single day since advanced technology has provided people with efficiency and convenience. The earth thus becomes a global village. I chose this design because it is not a only a fashion, but also a lifestyle, a relationship: the earth and people are linked by technology in today's world.

I have learnt 'Patience is virtue' and carefulness because of complicated steps while drawing.
