As you can see, this is my F1 logo design. I chose this picture because this year Singapore will host its first F1 race. I drew a flag blown by wind to represent a finish flag which means success. I just want to express that this event is very important to Singapore and will determine the ability of Singapore in organizing big event. Upon drawing this, I learnt how to use shade, pen, and pt off tool. Moreover, I found it a very fascinating experience when I had to choose proper constants for the graphs.
