I chose this design to tell that horoscopes came from the joining of stars observed from Earth. Furthermore, this horoscope of Sagittarius depicts a man holding a bow and arrow. It reminds me of how we, people, should be as well. We all hold our destiny as arrows, we need to have the courage and strength to pull the bow and let the arrow fly, most importantly, in the correct direction.

Through this project, I've learnt how to use the calculator, plotting linear and circular graphs, also, learnt to limit ranges and using different functions, both for drawings and calculations.
